COMMODORE'S COMMENTS ★★ ★★

First I want to thank Daryl for conducting the business portion of the January 20th meeting in my absence, as well as for chairing the planning of this year's events. Also, thank you, Christine, for recording the minutes.

I am pleased to see some new ideas, changes to some of the dates and the elimination of one event. Look at the MBC website and this issue of The Runabout for event details.

I was in Florida with a number of MBC members and, of course, we all gathered together at various times. Four of the couples rented a pontoon boat for six hours in 60-degree windy weather and cruised a portion of the intercoastal waterway. As luck would have it, we put the boat up on a sandbar, and two of the guys had to go into the cold water to push us off. We were so happy to get the boat free that we took off leaving one guy abandoned on the sandbar. Not to worry, we returned to retrieve him. As the song goes, MBC members are "Rough and tough and hard to bluff and used to hardships", or, in our case, hard groundings.

Also, five couples of this group gathered to watch the Packers beat the Bears followed by the Steelers beat the Jets. We made so much noise I think the condo moved off its foundation.

Mark your calendar for the Sno-Fun Cruise the 19th to Great Lakes Distillery & Dinner. We also have a Captain/First Mate lunch on the 14th.

Captain Luann Barndt of the U.S. Coast Guard will be our guest speaker at the meeting on the 17th. Dave Schneckenberg assured me that this would not be your basic 101 Coast Guard lecture on how to pilot your boat. I had the privilege of hearing her speak last year and was impressed with her presentation. You don't want to miss this meeting.

INTRODUCING... DICK & KAREN SCHMIDT

Dick and Karen Schmidt were officially initiated into Milwaukee Boat Club during our annual "Commodore's Ball" held this year at South Shore Yacht Club. This initiation came as surprise to some who thought the Schmidts were already members, as they have attended numerous MBC events as guests of their many friends in the club. Citing the "extremely nice and friendly people" they've met, Dick and Karen decided to join, and we couldn't be happier.

Dick grew up in Milwaukee and graduated from Wauwatosa High School. He began his career in sales in the areas of dry cleaning and soda water. In 1963, Dick entered the coffee business, and that's where he spent most of his sales career. Since 1992, Dick has had his own business, Timpel-Schmidt, specializing in industrial packaging supplies.

Karen also graduated from Wauwatosa High School and went on to secretarial school. Karen worked as an executive secretary and later as school secretary for twenty years at Mt. Olive. (Those of us in education know the secretaries run the schools!) Karen ended her secretarial career at Shorewest Realty where she was the educational coordinator.

Dick and Karen met at her father's meat market where Dick worked during high school. This past August the couple celebrated fifty-three years of marriage. Their daughter Stephanie and her husband live in Green Bay with their daughter Samantha. Son Brian, a widower, lives in Random Lake with his son Brady and daughter Cassidy. Son-in-law Rick, widower of Dick and Karen's daughter Vicki, lives on Pewaukee Lake with his daughter Jessica and sons Josh (who is in the Air Force Academy) and John. As you can expect, family plays a large role in Dick and Karen's life.

Dick became interested in boating through his uncle who worked at Mercury Motors. In 1961, Dick bought his first boat, a 14' runabout, and trailered it to area lakes. Many other boats followed, as Dick puts it, "from a 14' to a 15' to an 18' to a 21' to a 24' and, finally, to a 31.'" That last boat, which they recently sold, was a Cruiser named the "Abergut," after the Schmidts' specialty drink which is somewhat of a legend.

When not boating, Dick enjoyed trapshooting and hunting small game. For the past eight to ten years, Dick has worked on his 1966 Lincoln Continental 4-door convertible. He and Karen love showing it off at classic car shows in the area. Both Dick and Karen enjoy traveling "anywhere and everywhere." They've traveled to Europe, Hawaii, the Caribbean, and "all over the U.S." Dick and Karen are also active members of South Shore Yacht Club. In any free time that she has, Karen can be found knitting, quilting, and gardening.

The Schmidts learned of MBC from their many close friends who are members. We are delighted that this warm and outgoing couple chose to join our club. To Dick and Karen, we, of the Milwaukee Boat Club, extend a most heartfelt...Welcome Aboard!
